DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Applicant cancelled claims 1-141 & 149-155 and added new claims 156-161.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Group II, claims 142-148 and 156-161 acknowledged.

Drawings

This application has been filed with informal drawings, which are acceptable for examination purposes only. Formal drawings will be required when the application is allowed.

Specification

Applicant has indicated co-pending applications in the first paragraph of the specification. The first page of the specification should be updated to clarify the status of all related applications noted in the first paragraph of the specification. The status of nonprovisional parent application(s) (whether patented or abandoned) should also be included. If a parent application has become a patent, the expression "now Patent No. _____" should follow the filing date of the parent application. If a parent application has become abandoned, the expression "now abandoned" should follow the filing date of the parent application.

Art Unit: 3762

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it contains legal phraseology (i.e. comprising) and does not give a good description of what the claimed invention. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 144 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 144 does not further limit the independent claim. Claim 144 recites "further comprising a valve that operates to close and open the outflow channel" and this limitation is recited in claim 142 in lines 4 & 5.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 142, 144-147 & 156-161 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Polaschegg (5,522,998). Polaschegg discloses a dialysis apparatus having a balance chamber (30) which may be seen to be one chamber (30) or two chambers (34,36). The chamber further includes inlet and outlet lines for fluid moving into and out of the chamber. The system further has pumps along the fluid lines for moving fluid through the system and valves positioned along the fluid lines to control the fluid flow. The system further has a control and regulation unit that is coupled to the pumps and valves for control of their actions or cycles.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim 143 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Polaschegg ('395) in view of Utterberg (5,360,395). Polaschegg, however, fails to disclose specifically that the pump is a roller pump. Utterberg teaches the use of a roller pump within a tubing segment for use in a dialysis treatment apparatus to move fluid through the tubing of the system. At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to one having skill in the art to substitute the pump of Polaschegg to be a roller pump, since it is well known in the art to use roller pumps for moving fluids through medical lines and roller pumps are relatively inexpensive.

Claim 148 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Polaschegg ('395) in view of Brugger et al. (5,693,008). Polaschegg, however, fails to disclose specifically that the valve is a pinch clamp. Brugger teaches the use of a pinch clamps along tubing segments for use in a dialysis treatment apparatus to easily control the stop of fluid moving through the tubing of the system. At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to one having skill in the art to substitute the valves of Polaschegg to be pinch clamps, since it is well known in the art to use pinch clamps along tubing segments for use in a dialysis treatment to easily control the stop of fluid moving through the tubing of the system.
